

MOB CHASES DEER DOWN BROADWAY AND OFF BATTERY

Big Buck Pursued by Hundreds of Men and Women in Traffic Jam.

ACROSS BOAT INTO BAY

Animal Lassoed From Tugboat After Exciting Run Afloat and Ashore.

Police, mounted and on foot, expressmen, truck drivers, park bench warmers, brokers' clerks, bankers and brokers, too, subpayers and sailor men, tugs and ferryboats—to say nothing of pretty typists—today joined in a deer chase through lower Broadway and Battery Park. The first Dutch settlers of little old New York never experienced anything more exciting. Early today a big buck arrived at the express office, No. 2 Rector street, from the preserves of Dr. Seward Webb, in the Adirondacks. The deer was properly crated, but in the handling the big animal became fretted and balky. His rear hoofs suddenly shot out and scattered the barrier about him and with his head low and great horns menacing, he dashed for the street, leaving over two expressmen on the way.

"Look out!" cried the expressmen, and a hundred men and women dashed into doorways as the huge beast swung into the middle of the street.

Dashed Through Battery Park.

With a twenty-foot jump the deer landed in Greenwich street and footed its way so lively his pursuers couldn't see him going for dust. Into the midst of the heavy traffic of Battery place he suddenly plunged, and pants and human screams followed. Mounted policemen led the chase after him with half a dozen foot policemen and a hundred volunteers. Near Bowling Green the big animal ran into a pocket between a car and a truck. Albert Thine, an expressman, tried to catch his horns and was hurled aside. Ahead galloped up, but the deer gave one leap and was out of danger and off again.

Plunged Into River.

In a minute Bowling Green and Battery Park were thronged with men and women. The deer doubled through the undergrowth and another scramble ensued to catch him. He sped to South street, and suddenly burst into the heavy traffic about the Thirty-ninth street ferry. The frenzied beast darted to Broadway, where he again encountered a jam of traffic and retreated to Whitehall street, where he again sped to South street, and suddenly burst into the heavy traffic about the Thirty-ninth street ferry.

Half a dozen men chased the deer down the bay. He was lassoed from a tug. Walter J. Telle, pulled aboard and landed at the Battery, helpless, in a shackle of ropes.

SAYS HE WALKED HERE FROM 'FRISCO

It's a Hard Tramp, Walsh Declares, and He Had to Kill a Man.

A tall man carrying an American flag was followed by a crowd at noon today across City Hall Park and into the Mayor's office. He had tramped from San Francisco and was boasting his record. He did the entire distance in 61 days and 23 hours. He said the best record he ever heard was 75 days.

He claims to have made the walk on a wagon of $25,000, and was backed by Col. John Ward, of San Francisco, who backed Walsh against the Golden Gate Athletic Club.

Walsh lost fifty pounds during his trip, his hair turned gray and he says he had to kill a man—one of the two who held him up outside of Elverston. Who they were thieves and he shot one who died in the hospital. He was fasting for six days. He made thirty-five miles some days and nine miles in twenty-two hours on one part of the trip. He had to crawl along a trail nine miles wide and 10,000 feet high at one stage, where, he said, he buried a man. In crossing the desert in New Mexico he walked among human bones.

Walsh is a Sergeant in the United States Army, he said, and is stationed at the Presidio.

Sergt. Walsh had memorandum books in which he had signatures of more than 2,000 mayors, supervisors or village and town officials. Walsh, who is fifty-two years old, says he will write a book of his journey.

MADE FLYING LEAP FROM ROOF TO ESCAPE POLICE.

In an attempt to escape from two policemen William Lewis, a burglar, early today jumped from the roof of the house at No. 117 Putnam avenue, Ridgewood Heights, to a clothes pole, about four feet away. He made the leap all right and got down the pole to the street, but after running a couple of blocks he sought refuge in the cellar of a new house and there the police caught him.

Another man with him and known as "McGee" got away, but the police think he was struck by one of several shots fired at the men.

Beautiful Mrs. Woodbury Kane Won Abroad by "Jack" Mason

Report From London Indicates That the Heiress, Who Was a Protegee of Mrs. William Astor, Is About to Venture Into Matrimony for the Third Time.

DIVORCED ELLIOT, HER FIRST HUSBAND

Then Wedded Woodbury Kane, Who Died a Year Later, Leaving Her Another Fortune—Mason Not a Rich Man, but She Has Enough for Both.

A rumor has reached New York from London that the beautiful Mrs. Sallie Harcourt Elliot Kane, divorced from her first husband, Lieut. Duncan Elliot, and widow of the late Capt. Woodbury Kane, is about to take a third mate. The lucky man is said to be Jack Mason, a New York clubman, well known on both sides of the Atlantic. Mr. Mason is not wealthy, but if he weds the beautiful Mrs. Kane he will become the husband of one of the wealthiest widows in the Newport set.

More than twenty years ago Sallie Harcourt, as she was then, was known to New York society as the possessor of a fortune in her own right and as the protegee of Mrs. William Astor. When the heiress and beauty of the season, who was expected to make a brilliant match, announced her engagement to Duncan Elliot, she was considered, in a worldly sense, to be throwing herself away. At that time her pictures were in all the shop windows, and in the parlors of those of the English professional beauties, Mrs. Langtry and Mrs. Cornwallis West. Duncan Elliot, whom she married, was a stepson of the late Giraud Foster.

Her second love match. Mrs. Elliot divorced him in 1901, and in 1905 became the bride of Woodbury Kane, well known in society as the possessor of a large fortune and a keen sportsman, and to a wider public as a member of the Rough Riders, whom Theodore Roosevelt selected as his idea of a model soldier.

Mrs. Kane's second marriage was considered ideally happy. It was terminated by the sudden death of Capt. Kane in less than a year after the ceremony, which was performed at Aiken, S. C., on March 27, 1906. Later, because the laws of South Carolina do not recognize divorce for any cause, a second marriage was celebrated in Augusta, Ga.

Mrs. Kane inherited the bulk of her fortune from her second husband. She has retained her beauty remarkably well, and is said to be the one woman in the Newport set of whom no one has ever spoken an unkind word.

This Will Be Love Match No. 3.

If she becomes the wife of Jack Mason, it will be the third love match she has contracted. Mrs. Kane's greatest friend is Mrs. Hollis Hunnewell, who was formerly the "Baby Belle" Nelson, who divorced her first husband, Arthur Kemp, to become the bride of Mr. Hunnewell. None of Mrs. Kane's friends in New York will admit that she has any definite knowledge of her engagement to Mr. Mason, but none expressed surprise when the rumor reached them.

MRS. HALL MAY BRING AN ACTION FOR DIVORCE.

Instructs Lawyer to Investigate the Story that Husband Is Abroad With Show Girl.

Mrs. Florence Teall Hall, who learned through The World that her husband, Mandeville de Marigny Hall, was traveling in Europe with Vida Whitmore, a former Weber & Field's beauty, today sought her lawyer, John L. Linehan, of No. 27 William street. Mr. Linehan said he was instructed to make an investigation, and if the facts were as reported to bring suit for divorce in behalf of Mrs. Hall.

Mrs. Hall was married July 9, 1906, and went to live with her husband at No. 52 West Ninth street. She was forced to leave him the following February, owing, she says, to his dissipated habits. Sometimes later Hall sent for her and urged her to return, but she refused. On the same day he was mysteriously shot. It was reported that the shooting was an accident, but now it is said Hall tried to kill himself. Vida Whitmore, who was recently married with Hall, did not return today on the Lusitania. It was rumored that Miss Whitmore had taken passage on the ship, but passengers who said they knew the young woman well declared she was not on board.

DRUGGED GIRL CARRIED HOME AS SEARCH IS MADE

Supposed Victim of Gang Unconscious Four Days—Police Are Puzzled.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 31.—A sensational and mysterious case is occupying the undivided attention of the Allegheny County authorities today. Clara Kontor, eighteen years old, residing with her parents on a farm near Shousestown, left her home Monday afternoon to make a few purchases in either Shousestown or Pittsburgh. When she failed to return late Monday evening a search was instituted without success.

About midnight Tuesday, however, the girl's mother found her lying across her bed at the family home, apparently in a dying condition. Physicians were hurriedly summoned and after working with the young woman until early Tuesday morning Dr. Kerr, of Shousestown, pronounced the case as puzzling.

Notwithstanding the many treatments administered by the physicians the girl had not regained consciousness today. Last night the county authorities were notified and a score of officers are working on the case today. One theory advanced is that the girl was kidnapped, being taken to one of the many camps in the vicinity, where she was drugged and forcibly detained until Tuesday night when she was taken to her home while her parents and neighbors were searching for her in Shousestown and Pittsburgh.

Dr. Kerr said today he believed the drug would soon spend its force, probably late today, when it might be possible to ascertain from the young woman sufficient to clear up the mystery.

SHOOTS HIMSELF ON PORCH OF HIS HOME

Long Island Man's Family Can Give No Reason for His Suicide.

After eating a hearty breakfast and, seemingly in the best of health and spirits, Lessing Gieg, fifty-eight years old, a prosperous blacksmith of Evergreen, L. I., left his wife and family, walked to the front porch of his cottage, at No. 184 Deagrat street, and shot himself in the right temple, killing himself instantly.

The shooting caused a sensation in the neighborhood where Gieg was well known and respected. His wife cannot account for his act. Gieg left no letter and the cause for ending his life is as complete a mystery to his family as to everyone else.

Who was Gieg place the revolver to his head, the policeman, who was summoned, and Gieg's body was carried into his home. His family were too terrified to go to the porch after they heard the shot.

MRS. TEAL HELD IN $5,000 BAIL IN GOULD CASE PLOT

Mousley Required to Furnish Like Amount—Both Are Released.

Mrs. Ben Teal, wife of the theatre manager, and Harry S. Mousley, a private detective, under arrest in connection with subornation of perjury charges relating to the Gould divorce case, were each required to furnish a $5,000 bond today before Magistrate pending the action of the Grand Jury. Mousley is already under $5,000 detective license bonds.

Fully twenty friends of the man and woman were in Centre Street Court when the Magistrate called the case. Lawyer Cardozo, for Mousley, protested that an additional $5,000 bond was excessive.

"I don't care how many bonds he has," declared the Magistrate. "This case is an important one. I don't judge gross excessiveness in reference to the allegations made against this man and woman."

After an hour's delay Mrs. Teal and Mousley gave bail and were released. Maurice B. Blumenthal, attorney for Mrs. Teal, gave out the following statement as he left the courtroom:

"We put in no defense because Mr. Gould was not required to answer our questions. If the Grand Jury indicts there will be a trial before a judge and jury and there we shall break the seal at present on Mr. Gould's lips. Mrs. Teal gave from her hiding place, with the result that both will be required to testify fully in answer to our questions."

"Mrs. Teal will be a witness in her own defense and establish the fact that not only is she perfectly innocent in this matter, but that if there has been any plotting and conspiracy it has all been on Mr. Gould's side of the divorce case."

MILE-A-MINUTE AUTO HITS POLE: TWO MEN BADLY HURT.

Swain, who is a noted racer, was at the wheel, and the car went through here at midnight speeding at a sixty-mile-an-hour rate. Just outside the town limits the steering rod broke and Mr. Swain could not sink off the power. The machine leaped in the air and crashed into a telegraph pole. Swain sustained a probable fracture of the left leg and had several ribs broken in addition to internal injuries. Dr. Overpeck was as badly hurt. Both were taken to a hospital in Philadelphia.

GIRL DYING, THREE OTHERS INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

Tire Bursts and Rhinehardt's Car Runs Into a Telephone Pole

John Rhinehardt, of Roslyn, his eleven-year-old daughter, Louise, and thirteen-year-old son, Frederick, and his chauffeur, R. A. Ward, were taken to Nassau Hospital at Mineola today following the crash of a big touring car into a telephone pole at Glen Head, within ten yards of the crossing where the lives of two persons were shifted out Sunday.

Only Louise is seriously hurt. Both legs are broken and her body is bruised. She was caught between a wheel and the fence when the car smashed into the pole. When medical attention reached the injured occupants of the demolished car the girl was very feeble. The surgeons say her chances are extremely slim. The other three persons were treated at the hospital for bruises and cuts and went home.

The car, driven by R. A. Ward, of No. 145 West One Hundred and Fifteenth street, had just passed over the crossing where Lydia Townsend, and Arthur Smith lost their lives Sunday, when the front tire on the driver's side exploded. Ward lost control of his car completely. The machine zigzagged for some distance. Rhinehardt leaped over and attempted to aid his driver, but before the car could be straightened out it veered into the pole.

All of the occupants were hurled out of the car. The machine turned two complete somersaults, rolling over the girl and crushing her while the others were thrown clear of the car, which was badly wrecked.

The car was the property of R. P. McCleery, of Hempstead. It was said that Ward was driving the car without his employer's permission.
